S warthmore College has been called many things: the hardest working school in the country, the quintessential liberal arts college, a national treasure, and yes, even Kremlin on the Crum. A highly selective school, Swarthmore is recognized as one of the finest places in the United States to find an education. It is known not only for its stellar academics and accomplished graduates, but also for its history as an institution of tolerance and free thinking.

Swarthmore was founded in 1864 by Quakers, becoming the first co-educational college in the Northeast. Swarthmore students continue to strive for high and sometimes revolutionary ideals, as well as for intellectual accomplishment and critical thought.

Each student probably has his or her own images when someone mentions Swarthmore. Some might think of laughing with friends on Parrish Lawn on a warm spring evening while sounds of R.E.M. or John Lennon drift from speakers in upstairs windows. Others may remember a quiet early morning that came after a long night spent reading a book that changed their lives. And some may think of a dorm room where they fell asleep under glow-in-the-dark stars. Swarthmore is an amalgam of all of these images, and these images comprise its history, reputation, rigor, and beauty.

Since 1942, the amphitheater has been not only a beautiful but a significant place for every Swarthmore graduate. Each spring a new class's commencement is held in the outdoor auditorium, with diplomas received on a green stage and trees interspersed throughout the audience. The Scott Outdoor Amphitheater is only one of the features of the Scott Arboretum which is integral to Swarthmore's campus.

The Rose Garden in the summer, daffodils in the spring, the hollies in the winter; from azaleas to viburnums, the Arboretum creates a living sculpture out of the Swarthmore campus, filling the air with the smell of flowers and pine needles. When trying to think of great thoughts, Swarthmore students often turn to their surroundings for inspiration. The Scott Arboretum understands this and does its best to help Swarthmore students on their way by creating and maintaining the grandeur and beauty of all that is Swarthmore.

Where do you live? Wharton, Mertz, PPR, Lodges? Whatever the answer, the dorm a student calls home for a year is the background against which all other aspects of college life are played. For better or for worse, the four walls, the view from the windows, and the desks and dressers become part of the mental landscape of the student who lives, works, and (occasionally) sleeps there, and will stay with him or her always.

For seven or eight months a year, a dorm room is home to most Swarthmore students. And, just as different houses appeal to different buyers, each dorm has its own character and appeal. Also like any other living space, every dorm has positive and negative qualities. Dana and Hallowell's cinder block walls mean a year of trial in interior decoration, but the compensation may be window seats overlooking the Crum. Mary Lyon is at least a twenty minute walk from anywhere, but its residents are rewarded with big rooms, hardwood floors, and private bathrooms. And then there's Willets. The good thing about Willets is, it's social; and the bad thing about Willets is, well, it's social. Parrish Hall is the definition of central location, but be warned that the steps are exhausting and the TV lounge is non-existent. Each dorm has its devotees who love it for its eccentricities and uniqueness, as well as for its more obviously positive qualities.

The dorms hallways, lounges and kitchens that Swarthmore students spend their college years in are the places where conversations happen and friends are made, and these conversations are friends are perhaps some of the best elements of a liberal arts education.

RESOUR

Clubs

Swarthmore students never seem to have any problem getting involved in anything whether it be debate, work, or assistance to needy. It is this commitment to action that makes for a wide range of student groups on campus. From SASS to SWIL and to SCCS, anyone can get involved. In an effort to pool the resources and talents of the many groups on campus, a central work area called The Community Resource Center was founded in the 1991-92 academic year. The mission of the center is simple yet vital: to provide an effective and accessible staging area for equal access to the great resources of the College.

And Organizations

The Halcyon

The Halcyon is the Swarthmore College yearbook. With a budget of over $50,000 dollars, it is the largest and most impressive of the College's publications and campus organizations. This year's staff consisted of the following: Editor-in-Chief: Michael A. Costonis, Assistant Editor: Heidi Walls, Photography Editor: Hattie Fletcher, Photography Staff: Emily Mindel, Laura Dattner, Sports Editor: Shannon Allen, Business and Ad Managers: Eric McCrath, Adam Weinfeld, Student Life Editors: Antonio Goodwin, Kimberly Mealy. Copy Staff: Emily Martin, David Sobel. The Halcyon is a yearly publication geared to represent student life at Swarthmore from a Senior Class perspective.

Student Council

Student Council is the governing body at Swarthmore College. The Council's goal is to articulate and act upon the needs of the students at large. This is done through the various positions in the Council such as Board of Managers Representative, Curriculum Committee Representative and At-Large Representative. This year's Council was extremely active as they sought to work on the College's sexual assault policy, the policy surrounding the staff's ability to take classes, Dining Hall issues, and many more. The Coordinator of the Council was Eric McCrath and the Assistant Coordinator was Emma Larson.

MAGIC

MAGIC is devoted to helping our neighbors in the city of Chester. Every weekday afternoon, MAGIC travels to the Bethany Baptist Church and works with the members of the church in an after-school program, helping children with their homework and encouraging activities that are educational and enjoyable. MAGIC is a joint effort of Swarthmore Students and Chester community members to help their children achieve. The goal of MAGIC is that the children will perform successfully in school and gain a sense of self-esteem in their performance. MAGIC wants kids to enjoy education and pursue learning beyond MAGIC's program. MAGIC tutors are positive role models who can assist these children in facing their many difficult decisions.

Children's Literacy Project

The Children's Literacy Project runs a weekly multicultural reading hour at the Crozer Library in Chester. Each Saturday morning, Swarthmore and occasionally Bryn Mawr students travel to the library to work with kids age six to ten. Members of the Project read stories aloud, listen while the children read, and guide the kids through related activities in an effort to spark their interest in reading and writing. In the past, with a grant from the Swarthmore Foundation, the Children's Literacy Project has compiled a book of stories written by Swarthmore students and by kids in the program. Parents and school officials have expressed their appreciation for the extra affection that the Children's Literacy Project has given to their children.

The Phoenix

Founded in 1881, the Phoenix is Swarthmore College's student-run newspaper. Beside The Halcyon, it is the College's largest publication and arguably the most visible. The pages of the Phoenix are filled each week with campus news and opinion pieces, movie reviews and much more. The Phoenix is often the outlet for student discourse and it is widely read. For a good discussion or debate, students can always turn to the Phoenix.

Social Affairs Committee

The Social Affairs Committee has a substantial operating budget allocated from the Student Activities Fund. The committee works with many organizations and group of students to organize and co-sponsor all-college parties as well as special events such as the Fall Formal, Oktoberfest, Screw Your Roommate, the Spring Formal, and the Spring Fling. In addition, the committee administers space and alcohol permits for private parties and works to keep the social calendar balanced each weekend. SAC was coordinated by Joey Connors.

Viva Italia!

Viva Italia! is an organization devoted to the appreciation of Italian culture. The organization has been an active presence on campus this year by serving up Italian culture on a number of occasions. While its members are not all Italian, Viva Italia! sure knows how to have a good time and a good meal. It was coordinated by Ben Kaplan, Lee Tucker, and John Crawford.

Swarthmore African Students Association

SASA promotes a wide-ranging study of African issues and African cultures, aiming in all its activities to enrich student's experiences at Swarthmore by fostering a greater awareness of Africa and African issues. SASA's agenda includes, but is not limited to, issues of development, arts and cultures, the environment, gender concerns, religion, politics and history. The group serves as a forum for students, faculty and staff to share experiences, concerns and ideas — academic or otherwise — related to Africa.

SAO

The Swarthmore Asian Organization — SAO — is for students of all backgrounds who are interested in Asian (South Asian, Southeast Asian, etc.) Pacific Islander, and Asian American issues and cultures. SAO is a busy organization: some of its activities included an Asian American Awareness Month with speakers, films and McCabe library exhibit; potlucks and study-breaks; a workshop on Asian American issues, and trips to conferences, restaurants, and museum exhibits.

SASS

SASS is a political, educational, cultural, and social organization which develops a variety of programs and activities that maintain the understanding of the African-American experience. Through its political involvement, SASS has expressed an active voice on campus concerning local, national, and international issues. On an educational and cultural level, some of the activities SASS has sponsored have been forums, poetry readings, and guest lectures. Socially, SASS has, through various activities such as theatre trips, study breaks, parties, and peer support, added to the unity of the black student body.

Democrats For Clinton

The Swarthmore College Democrats promotes student involvement in the democratic political process as well as encouraging support of local and national Democrats for public office. SCD conducts voter registration drives on and off campus, organizes student volunteers to distribute leaflets and phonebank for Democratic candidates and hosts speakers and political discussions on campus.

Pro-Choice Task Force

The Pro-Choice Task Force is an organization devoted to active protection of access to safe and legal abortion, and birth control, and the initiation of intelligent discussion on reproductive issues. To achieve its goals, the Pro-Choice Task Force organizes many different activities ranging from protest marches to fundraisers for those who are unable to afford abortion. This organization is dedicated to doing all it can to protect the lives of women and the privacy rights of all citizens, on campus and off.

Men's Volleyball

The Men's Volleyball Club competes with area colleges in an effort to assert Swarthmore's dominance of the net and the sky that surrounds it. The Garnet Spikers have been fairly successful in their efforts. Team members Rob Steelman and Danny Evans play tough and hard each time out as they try to dig out a win. Despite the fact that Men's volleyball is not a varsity sport at Swarthmore, the team gives it their all and deserves recognition.

SWARM

SWARM is Swarthmore's frisbee organization. They are experts of the flat disk and organize to play ultimate frisbee whenever possible on Mertz Lawn. The team travels and competes with regional clubs and has seen its fair share of victory. Each year the team designs and manufactures its own frisbee thus adding to its competitive advantage.

Action Les-B-Gay

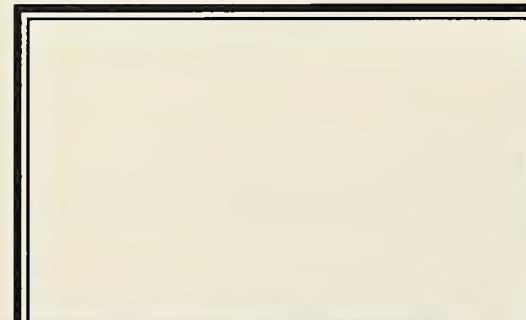

Action Les-B-Gay (formerly AsIs) is the political action and awareness outreach branch of the Bisexual, Gay and Lesbian Alliance. The group sponsors a variety of political, educational, cultural, and entertainment activities throughout the academic year. These include awareness weeks, movies, a weekly radio show, speakers, and open meetings. The group is currently working towards institutional changes, including representation of lesbians, gays, and bisexuals in the curriculum, the faculty, and the administration. Action-Les-B-Gay was instrumental in the process to create the much needed Intercultural Center, where its offices are now located.

Martial Arts Studies Group

The Martial Arts Study group (MAS), founded by student martial artists in the Fall of 1984, was organized to educate the college community on the fighting arts of Asia which include Karate, T'Aichi, and the Judo arts. The goals of this group have been to emphasize the differences between nations and styles, and to distinguish fiction from fact. MAS organizes at least one demonstration each semester of a particular style or aspect of the martial arts and sponsors films whose subject involves martial arts. MAS also acts as a resource on martial arts instruction for Swarthmore college students.

The Grapevine

The Grapevine is a Swarthmore female a capella group. Musical arrangements for performance range from 40's, 50's, jazz, pop, contemporary and originals to anything else that the group wants to sing. The Grapevine hosts jamborees for the college community, travels to other schools, and performs at various on-campus events.

Sistah's

Sistah's is a new a cappella group on the Swarthmore Campus. The group is made up of female afro-americans and debut has been met with rave reviews. The group performed at both Jamborees.

Frionas

Frionas is a female a capella group at Swarthmore College. The group sings selections of various cultural songs. The group has been quite a treat to anyone who has listened to them at the Jamborees. At last check, their tape has sold out and may go gold . . .

Gospel Choir

The Swarthmore College Gospel Choir serves as a spiritual uplifting, a cultural identification and a special outlet for black students at Swarthmore College. The founding members of the Gospel Choir felt gospel music to be an appropriate means of expression.

Sophisticated Gents

Sophisticated Gents is an all-male afro-american a capella group. The Gents have performed at both the Fall and Spring Jamborees to excellent reviews. 1991-1992 marked the return of the Gents after a small absence from campus.

In The Light

In The Light is a new addition to Swarthmore's a cappella line up. The group consists of Antonio Goodwin and Kimberly Mealy. In The Light has performed in both of the Jamborees on campus and was well received.

WSRN 91.5 FM

WSRN is the 100-watt non-commercial FM stereo radio broadcast station owned and operated by Swarthmore College. WSRN's frequency is 91.5 MHz, and it has a directional antenna pointing northwest with a range of approximately 22 miles serving Swarthmore College, the Ville, and the local community. WSRN is the second oldest continually operating college radio station in the country, and celebrated its 50th anniversary of the issuing of its broadcast license in 1990. WSRN is a founding member of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System.

WSRN is the largest organization on campus, with 120 active participants each semester. About 100 students are Disc Jockeys who produce their regularly scheduled shows. Shows of the past have had names such as Folk Fusion and Smooth With The Roughness. DJs preview new releases and simply show up for their show. WSRN hosts interns from Strath Haven High School, serving an educational niche as a training ground for future professionals and hobbyists alike.

Entrepreneurs Club

The Entrepreneurs Club's purpose is to encourage entrepreneurial thought. The club facilitates meetings with entrepreneurs themselves informally and formally through lectures given by alumni entrepreneurs. The Entrepreneurs Club is endowed by the Charles Boone Houston II Entrepreneurs Club Endowment.

SWIL

Mad Wrigglers

Folk Dance Club

The Men's Club

The Men's Club is a clandestine organization on the Swarthmore College campus. Similar to Yale's Skull and Bones, The Men's Club is largely underground in nature. Membership in the Club is not exclusive as it reaches across cultural and racial bounds. The Men's Club does not rely on SAC funds for its functions despite the incredibly large operating budget in its possession. Recent events included a Barbeque and a spring pilgrimage to the Frozen lake, Winnepeaukee. Due to the loss of more than 80 percent of its members, it is highly unlikely that this group will return to campus.

Ruach

Ruach, the Jewish student organization at Swarthmore, offers a sense of community and connection to its members. To develop understanding and participation in Jewish life, Ruach (the Hebrew word for 'spirit') sponsors lectures, and discussions with leading Jewish scholars and personalities, study groups, films, parties, Shabbat and holiday services. Recognizing its bond with Jews throughout the world, Ruach also provides information on programs dealing with Israel, the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry and Project Chaver.

Competing in the tough Middle Atlantic Conference, Swarthmore College has found its fair share of success. Basketball, Cross Country, Swimming, Football, Soccer, Wrestling, and Tennis have been perennial MAC and even national NCAA contenders. On an individual level, Swarthmore has produced a healthy number of MAC champions in sports such as Swimming, Tennis, Wrestling, and Cross Country.

Above and beyond its respective record in the MAC, Swarthmore continues to dominate the annual competition for the Hood Trophy by dashing its often hapless rival (and world renowned safety school) Haverford. Despite the loss of the great athletes in the Class of '92, experts predict this trend to continue.

In victory and in defeat, the Fighting Quakers of Swarthmore can take great pride in the fact that they are the true definition of the phrase 'student-athlete.'

Sports

Football

"I'd have to say that I think that this year was highly successful when you consider it as a rebuilding year," said Coach Karl Miran on the Garnet's 1991 football season. Towards the end of the season, the Garnet was getting stronger and beginning to work together as more of a team. "I wish the season was five weeks longer," said Coach Miran. "We really were starting to come into our own."

The Garnet finished this season at the bottom of the CFC in rushing offense and defense; they averaged only 102.6 yards per game while they gave up 258.6. Coach Miran attributes the squad's inability to move the ball not to his running backs, but to the 'supporting staff'. There is talent in the backfield with freshman Dave Reeser (eighth in the conference in rushing) and sophomore Tavis Tindall. QB Chip Chevalier was fourth in the CFC in total offense (averaging 165.8 yards per game), and wide out John Crawford was fourth in receptions per game with 4.0 and third in yards per reception (16.5). John Drake, another receiver was seventh in catches per game with 3.7. Freshman Matt Poe showed promise of becoming one of the better kickers in the league, averaging 32.4 yards per punt.

With 20 freshmen on the squad (out of a total 45) the team cannot help but get better and more experienced after a year of working together and maturation.

Field Hockey

The Woman's Field Hockey team brought a close to their 5-11-1 season by avenging an earlier season loss to Bryn Mawr, defeating them by a score of 2-1. Headed by Captains Heather Easterling and Darah Himmelhoch, the Garnet is left with the memory of a tough schedule and stiff competition.

The season was not without high points, though. The Garnet scored a come-from-behind victory over Wellesley in the Seven Sister's Tournament (winning 2-1) and watched Hot Frosh, Melissa Bonder, climb her way to being team scoring leader (7 goals, 1 assist). Much is expected of her in the future.

Looking for the future, but not ignoring the contributions made to the team by Easterling and Himmelhoch is Coach Gaile Rockey, who will see her entire squad returning next year except the two Senior captains.

"The team is sporting young, fresh faces who could build Swat into quite an opponent." This season, though, the team was searching for that right combination to produce a number of wins. Good things, though, are on the horizon for the team after a year of experience playing together.

Men's Soccer

This season brought the Garnet to the second round of the NCAA tourney. Coach Wayne McKinney saw his team through victories against Haverford, ranked third in the region, for a berth in MAC and NCAA playoffs and against Muhlenberg, ranked number two in the nation.

But Swat has a lot of rebuilding to do for the next years. With the loss of Goalie Andrew Cavenaugh, Blake Mackey, Jason Sears, Brent Becker, Pete Yost, Chris Loux, Chris Magee, J.P. Gomez, Mark Laskin, Lenny Nathan, and R.J. Meagher to graduation, there will be many spaces to fill in the years to come. But starters Este Cardemil and Ben Cook as well as Jesse Murphy, Nate Fairman, Jeff Nebelsiek, Pete Jacobs and Will Roth will try and make the following years as successful as this one. In the words of coach McKinney, "We have to do some big time recruiting." But on a more positive note:

"Even though we lost that final (NCAA) game, we had big wins over Haverford and Muhlenberg . . . (this season) is something these boys will carry with them for the rest of their lives. They had an amazing season."

Women's Soccer

Ending the season with three straight wins, the Woman's soccer team boosted its overall record to 5-10-2, showing how they improved by working together as a team over the course of the season. The seemingly poor record fails to indicate, however, that four games ended in double overtime where the Garnet ended up in either a loss or a tie, but fought all the way through.

"We improved greatly over last year, even though we finished with the same record. Teams that dominated us last year we took to overtime this year. I feel that we earned the respect of the MAC," said Coach Karen Yohannan on the season.

The Garnet is losing two of its best defenders this year. Captains Martha Wofford and Alex Minicozzi were definite leaders. "They have been key figures in our successes over the last few years" says teammate Jen Tucker. Also graduating are Kaethe Hoffer and Suzy Wang whose contributions to the team will be missed.

Returning next year will be scoring leader, Jen Leigh (4 goals, 8 points) and Frosh sensation Madeline Frazer (3 goals, 3 assists, 9 points) as well as a set of experienced juniors. Sarah Carpenter, Carla Davis, Maiko Behr, Emily Newland, Jen Tucker, Monica Shadlow, Hadley Wilson, Carrie Plummer and Dahlia Wasfi.

Commenting on the season, Yohannan concluded with, "I'm very pleased with the attitudes of the players. I think they enjoyed each other's company and accomplished a great deal together."

Cross Country

We started preseason by watching the World Championships in Tokyo. It was so hot during that last week in August that we did not mind looking like fools as we wet vested in the pool and commenced the season with team water relays. Margaret Sloane arranged dinner at Stroll's with the men's team before the alumnae races where we caught up with alumnae Ginger Boone, Jenneane Jansen, and Nanette Bertaut. We beat Haverford that week for a Hood Trophy point on Barb Ley's favorite course (Red Tree Park). At our dual meet victory against Johns Hopkins, Carrie Berman ran the second best time for a Swarthmore runner on our home course. Amy Iwan fought off a mule for third place overall at Muhlenberg and saved her team from a loss there.

With Chrissy Harshbarger leading the team in song after winning PAIAW's coach, Larry Ehmer brought sparkling cider to celebrate with. Celebrating a third place finish we dined with our Seven Sisters at the race at Bryn Mawr where the course is twisted and hilly and where Laura Kirkman's quad wrap immediately fell to her ankles, untwisted. Amanda Fine finished first for us at the Red Rose Invitational even though she had twisted her ankle the night before walking home from Renato's. At that last regular season race, Seniors Jessica Rabb and Carolyn Wright received guardian angle pins from Larry.

At MAC's Coach Larry gave the team the low-down on the bathroom (I want you to go an hour before the race and then again, 30 minutes before the race, be aggressive). And so, we finished in fourth place with an incredible team effort.

Given the return of six of last year's top seven, coach and runners alike were optimistic about this year's season. A slow early start shook the team's confidence, but quirky losses sent the harriers into the conference and regional meets with a vengeance. The Garnet placed second of 26 teams at MAC's behind Haverford, displaying the strength and team-work which had not been focused in September and October.

1991 brought the end to more than the cross country careers of ten Seniors. It also marked the final season of Head Coach, Joe Stefanowicz's 23 year commitment to Swarthmore athletics. He boasts a 70% win record which includes three conference championships. Combining a competitive spirit with a laid back coaching style, he allowed all runners to achieve, transforming several back of the pack stragglers into front runners. At MAC's, Coach Joe rejected stereotypical fire and brimstone and filled his pre-race speech with sentiment. "Look around at the guys you're standing next to. Over the years, you've become more than just teammates. You've become friends. So don't do it for the team. Do it for your friends."

Senior Captain Sabrina Martinez led the women's Volleyball team on to a 12-15 season. The Garnet Spikers went for 3-3 in MAC Competition and scored a fourth place finish in the Seven Sisters tournament, which was the team's best showing in that tournament to date.

Individual outstanding performances were made by Sophomore Jenny Willis, who led the team in kills with 139 and Sophomore Katie Westin, who had 55 blocks. Freshman Rachel McKaig came up with 33 aces over the season and Junior Wendy Cheung was the model of consistency with a 91% serving average.

Next year, under the leadership of Cheung and fellow Junior, BJ Chisolm, the young team, containing six sophomores and nine freshman, can only expect to improve after this year of experience as a team.

Men's Basketball

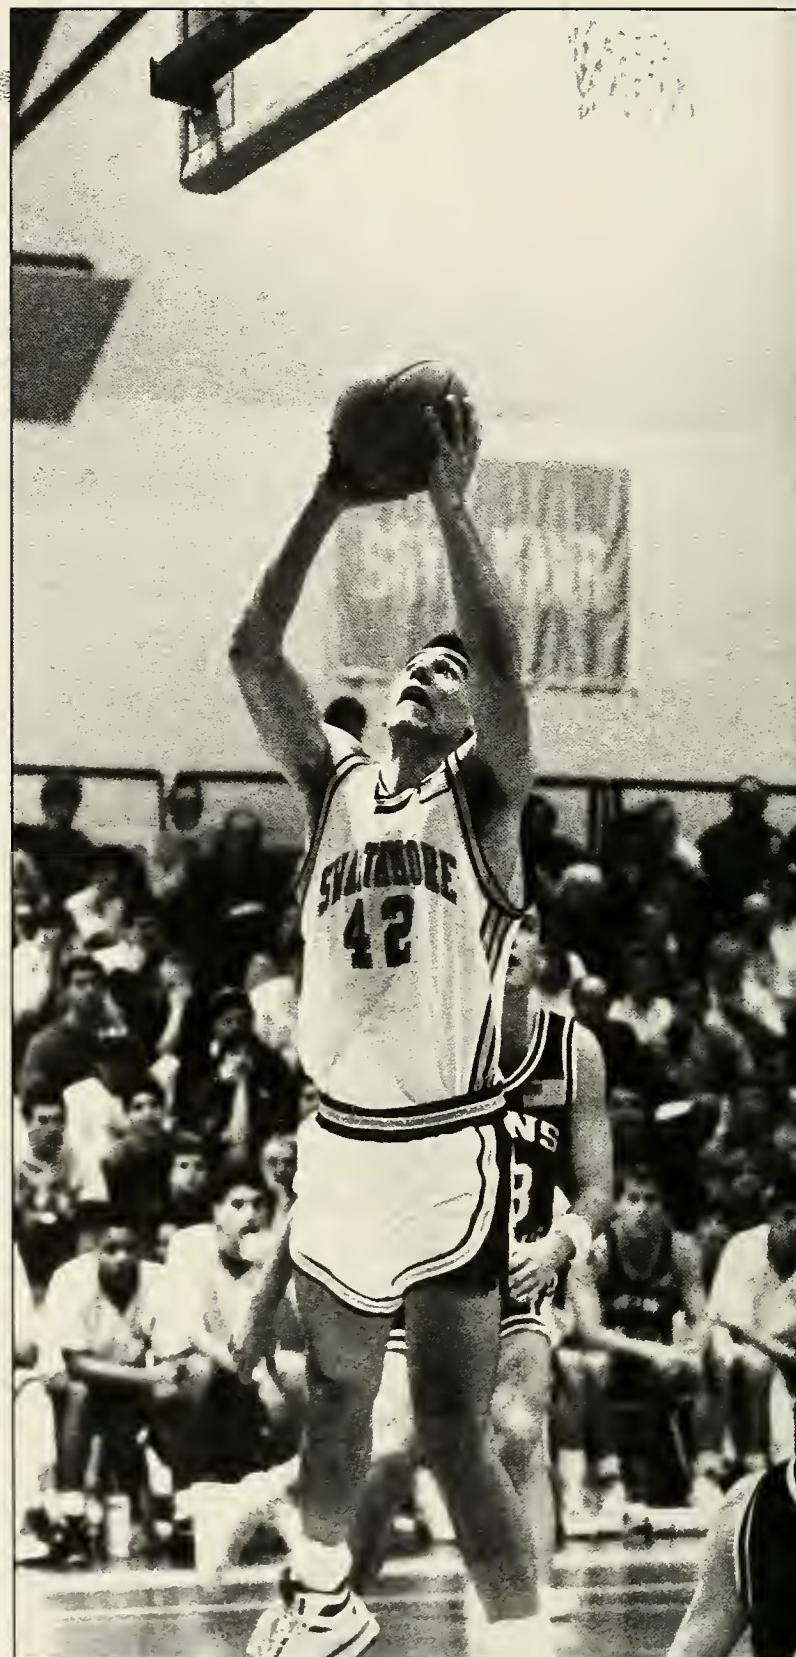

The 1991-1992 campaign of Men's Basketball can only be described as a roller coaster ride for head coach Lee Wimberly and the squad. The team dropped their first nine games of the season, including losses to Division I opponents, Yale, Lafayette and a nationally ranked Franklin and Marshall team, then proceeded to win their next seven in a row. This streak included two wins in the Skidmore College Invitational in which the Garnet placed first, capturing their first Tournament crown in recent history. The team finished the season winning four out of their remaining nine games, including two wins over arch-rival Haverford, one being by a margin of one point.

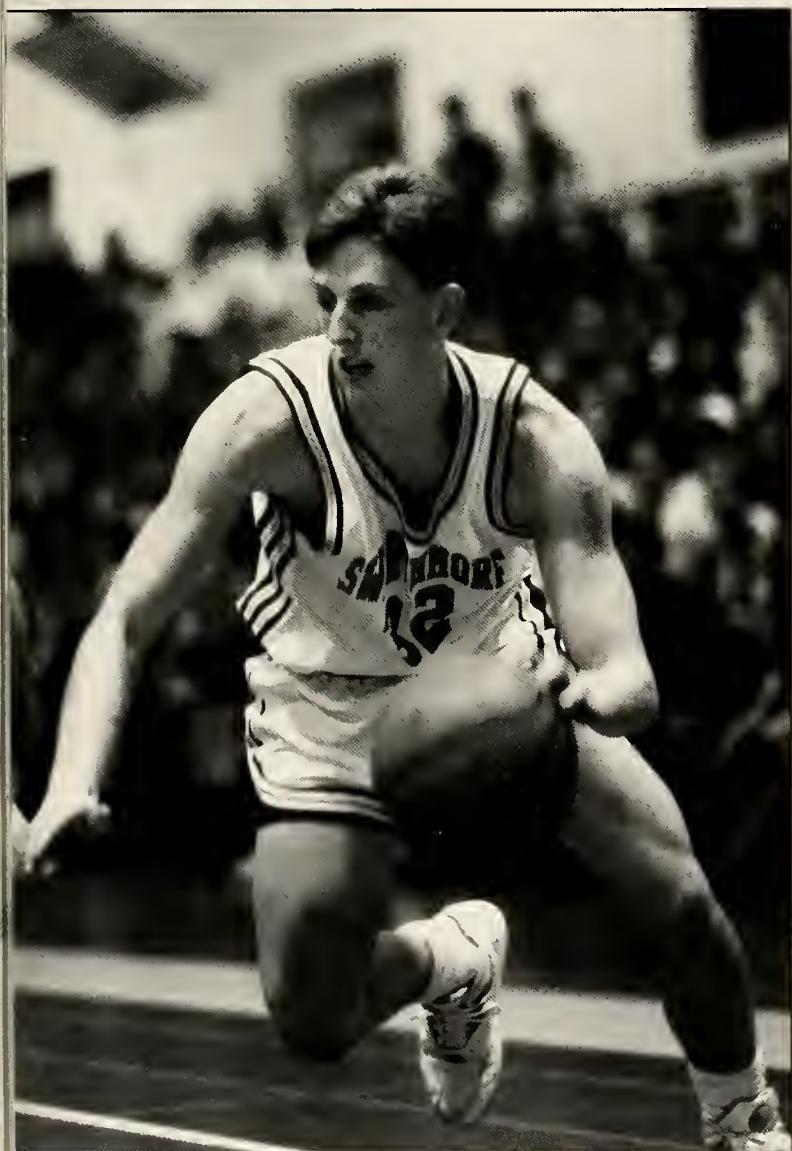

Senior Scott Gibbons finished his career becoming the all-time scoring leader in Swarthmore history, finishing with 1563 points, eclipsing the old mark of 1507 set by Jim Reilly '50. Gibbons was also named to the All-Tournament teams at both the Scotty Wood and the Skidmore tourneys and led the MAC Southern Division in scoring with 21.4 points per game. The Garnet will also be losing defensive star Rob Ruffin '92, but sees guard Corey Mulloy '94 and "Rebounding Force" Brett Fenster '94 waiting in the wings.

"Our season started out rough so it was nice to end on a good note," says Ruffin, "I want to thank the fans for coming out when we were going through rough times, it was really helpful." Coach Wimberly adds to the reflection on the season with "If I could do it all over, I'd do the same thing . . . We were 11-5 in our last sixteen games and definitely improved."

Women's Basketball

The Lady Garnet dramatically improved on their one-win season of 1990-91 with a record of 6-16 and recording their first league win in two years. Sophomore Kerry Laufer led the squad with an average of 15 points per game before an ankle injury sidelined her late in the season. She was named to the post-season MAC All-Academic team. Head Coach, Karen Yohannan will have her hands full next year with the loss of starters Martha Wofford, who led the team in minutes played (30+) and rebounds per game (8.6) and Robin Tanabe, who led the team in assists per game (4.3) and steals.

When viewed as a whole, the season proved to be a step ahead for the women's squad and a sign of the collective team improvement made by the Garnet.

Wrestling

Despite a dual match record of 2-14, the 1991-92 season for the Swarthmore Wrestlers continued many individual highlights and was a fitting tribute to the 50th anniversary of wrestling at the College. Senior Dennis Jorgensen became the first Garnet Wrestler to win a MAC crown in 14 years when he won the 177 pound weight class at the Conference Championships at Swarthmore. He received a bid to the NCAA Division II Championships at Trenton State, but was eliminated in the first two rounds. He and teammates Kevin Wilson '92 (who finished fourth in 190 at MAC's) and Wes Rochette '94 (6th in 158) were named Scholar All-Americans by the NCAA Division II Wrestling Coaches Association. Swarthmore placed a very respectable tenth in the MAC tournament.

Although the Swarthmore "Men of Sparta" will graduate three seniors this year, including Wilson and Jorgensen, the relatively strong team showing, especially that made by Rochette and Freshman Eric Williams gives a great deal of promise for the future.

Badminton

The Varsity 'Swatters', led by Coach Pete Hess, had the best overall record of any winter sports team, finishing the season undefeated in dual match competition at 12-0. It was the second time in a row that Swarthmore Badminton had an undefeated season.

Captain Leslie Bell '92 led the squad all season from her number one singles spot and captured the PAIAW singles crown. She suffered only two losses during the regular season. Elizabeth Grossman '92 and Rosie McCauley '93 proved to be a formidable doubles team and made the semifinals of the Northeast Collegiate Tournament at Swarthmore, thus earning All-Region honors. They were also undefeated in regular season play.

Jen Setlow '95 and Beth Bruch '95 played in the #1 doubles spot at the final tournament with an impressive 15-10, 15-9 win. At that tournament, #2 doubles team, Melissa Running '94 and Shanika Fernando '95 also triumphed over their opponents 15-4, 15-1. The seasons ahead look strong given the talent of these returning players.

Women's Swimming

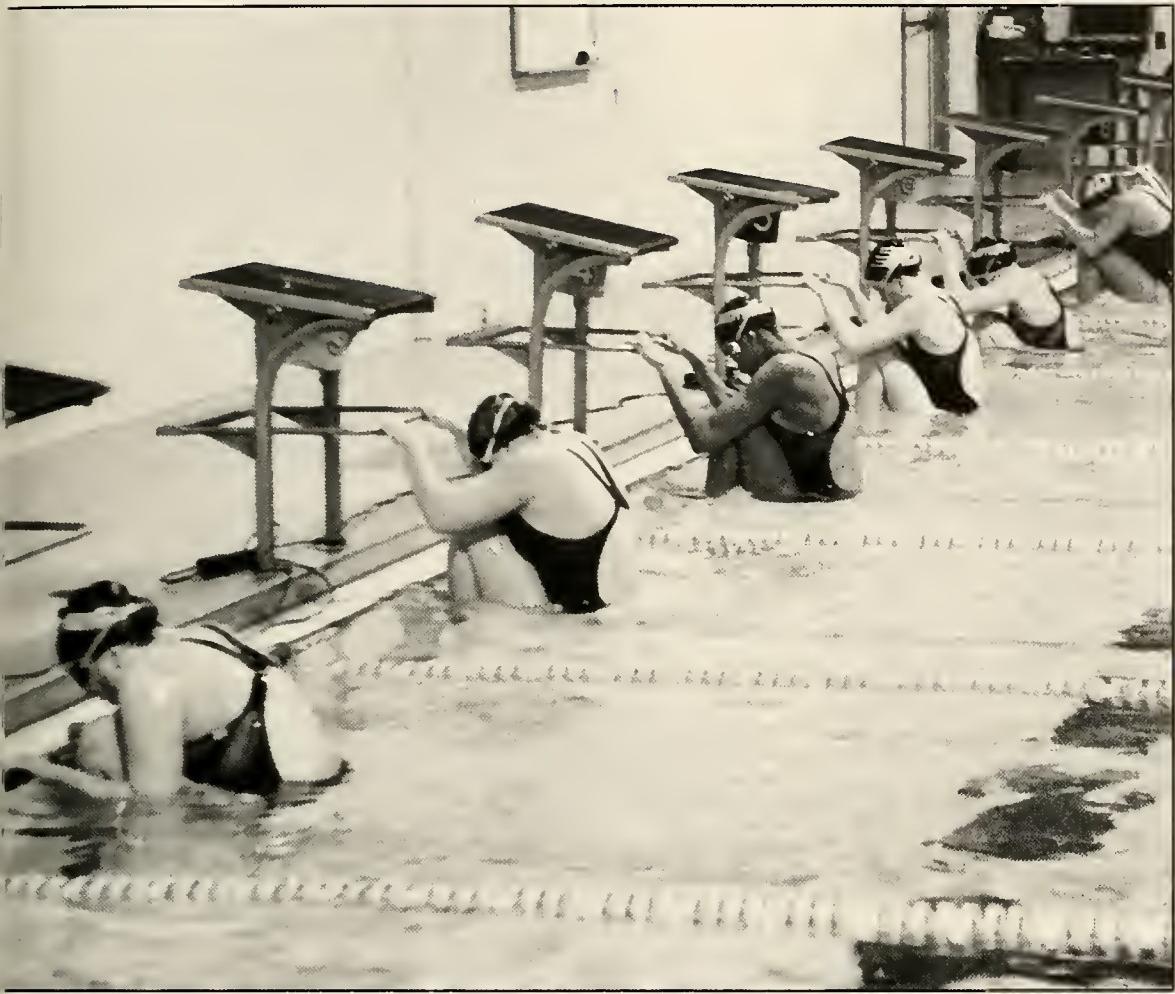

When it comes to this year's Swarthmore Swim teams, the Men's team record of wins and losses and the Women's record of and losses say nothing about this year's teams. By simply looking at the dual meet records, one will never know how successful this year's teams were. Coaches Sue Davis, Diana Lzeca, and Joe Webber and Captains Adam Browning, Sue Goselee and Jessica Walker, helped make this season successful. Not only did the team exhibit immeasurable vocal strength at its meet, but swimmers cheered for each other workout.

The Florida winter training trip made the Swat Swim Team members even more cohesive. During early morning water aerobic exercises, the team learned how to smile and strut across the pool. However, very few swimmers were able to maintain those smiles throughout the tough workouts. Along with the workouts came Sue Davis' words "we are not here to sit on the beach." And in the words of Eric McCrath, "Sherman said 'War is Hell', but that is because he never swam on the Swarthmore Swim Team." The trying workouts did, however, help the team to achieve success at the MAC Championships.

Many new college records were set this year and everybody on team achieved personal best time. At MAC's Browning had the distinction of winning the 100 yd. butterfly for the fourth consecutive year. Two swimmers on the women's team qualified for Division III Nationals in Buffalo. Britta Fink qualified in the 200 yd. breaststroke while Kate Moran qualified in the 100 yd. backstroke. In Buffalo, Britta Fink had a stellar performance and achieved All American status.

Few will forget the 91-92 Swat Swim Season. The team appreciates the dedication and hard work of Seniors Browning and Kurt Furnstrom Thank you, Adam and Kurt, and good luck!

Track and Field

Both the men's and women's squads enjoyed success during the indoor campaign. The women captured the Centennial Conference Invitational, finished second at the PAIAW meet and earned third place in the MAC championship. The men's team finished second in the Centennial Meet and had several impressive performances, including wins in the Distance Medley Relay at the prestigious Yale Invitational and at the MAC championships.

Individual outstanding performances on the men's squad were made by senior Guian McKee and Sophomore John Edgar, who both made the Conference All-Academic team. At the MAC championships, the 3200 meter relay, composed of Will Roth '93, Dave Graham '92, Nate Showalter '93, and John Edgar '94 took third place and Matt Warshawsky '92 ran a 4:02.6 in the 1500 meter race, blowing away his competition.

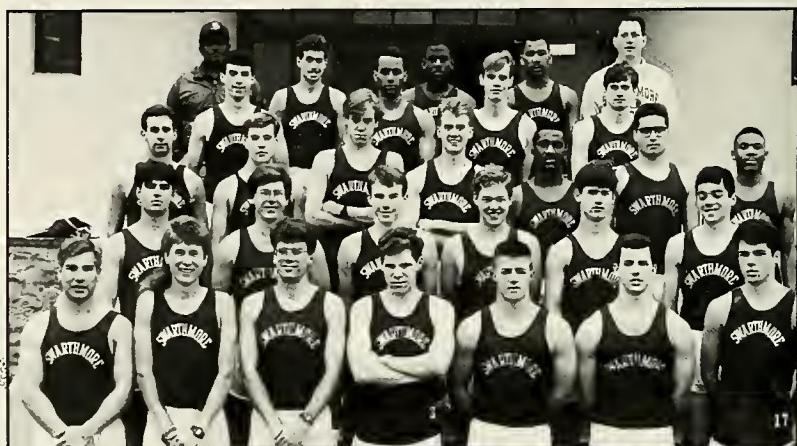

On the women's side, Junior Liz Dempsey won the MAC Championship in the 55 meter hurdles. Three sophomores, Amy Iwan, Tina Shepardson, and Joanna Vondrasek were named to the MAC All-Academic team. In all, twelve school records were broken this season, including the 4x1 lap relay consisting of Ann Horsky '92, Kate Dempsey '95, Cathy Dunn '93, and Liz Dempsey '93 with a time of 2:04.3 minutes. The 3200 meter relay consisting of Rachel Spear '92, Yvonne Lui '95, Schaunel Steinnagel '93, and Amy Iwan '94 also broke a school record with a time of 10:28.5 minutes.

The Women's track team ended the outdoor season with a 3-3 record. During the regular season, the 400m relay team placed fourth in the Penn Relays, setting a school record.

The Garnet will say farewell to Seniors Jessiaca Rabb, Ann Horsky, Rachel Spear and Ellen Licking. But we look to the future with fieldsters, BJ Chisholm '93, Tina Shepardson '94, and Joanna Vondrasek '94, as well as runners Kate Dempsey '95, Amy Iwan '94 and Yvonne Lui '95.

The men's track team finished their season with a record of 1-5. But to the seniors, it isn't the record that is important, but rather the time spent running with their team. Seniors Dave Graham, Rob Henderson, Kevin Huffman, Ari Tuckman, and Dan Wilson were all recognized for their four years of dedication and devotion to the team. Guian McKee '92, and Madd Matt '92, who both had outstanding seasons and fine performances in the longer events, and javelin thrower Chris Tipper '92, also had fine performances this season.

To conclude their final season together, Tuckman, Huffman and Justin Higgins commented in a Phoenix article, "It's safe to say that we will never again associate with such a bizarre collection of uniquely warped individuals, nor engage in such an incestuous network of inside jokes and inane lingo. Odd as it may seem, we took refuge from the pasty-faced, limp-legged rabble in this unforgiving sport and its perhaps too-forgiving participants. Hail to those who made it possible."

Men's Baseball

The Men's Baseball Team started its season with numerous doubts about the level at which it was going to perform this year. Many losses had occurred last year due to injuries and graduation, including most of Swarthmore's powerful pitching staff. But led by pitchers Jeff Johnson '92 and Dave "The Big Red Train" Larner '92, a season that could have been a disaster for the Garnet turned into a season full of unrelenting dedication and a number of flawless performances.

Throughout the season, the Garnet saw a number of personal highs and firsts. In the game against Lebanon Valley, Chip Chevalier '93 hit his first home run in his first college at-bat. First-Year, Jeff Gans also saw his first college hit in that game. Trey Gregory '95 and Kirk Dauerio '95 also made their pitching debuts for Swat in the game against Moravia. Although the game was a loss, there was high expectations for the future.

Coach Ernie Prudente's offense is led by Larger, who plays first base when he isn't pitching, as well as Jeff Clark '92, Ben Motenegro '93, Mark Tindall '93 and Brad Hoffman '93 who all turned in key plays over the course of the season.

Four-Year awards were given to Jeff Clark and Dave Larger for their dedication over their college careers. Clark also won the Dick Hall Award and Larger was the recipient of the Hustler Award.

Men's Lacrosse

The Men's Lacrosse team closed out its season with a confident victory over Widener College, but a loss to Western Maryland. Over the season there were impressive performances by seniors Andy Wise, Scott Castro and Rick Weiss. Castro and Weiss recognized for their four years of service to the team by being recipients of Four-year awards.

The team also saw impressive performances by first-year attackman Cary Schaub and had impressive defense from Kenrick Cato '93, Brett Fenster '94 and Shannon Brown '95. The future was a key for this season, as many other outstanding performances were made by underclassmen, including Sarang Gadkari '94 who had an impressive defensive game against a tough F & M team.

Rick Weiss and Kevin Bewley were recognized as the recipients of the Avery Blake Award and Dave Jaros and Andy Wise were the winners of the Hall of Fame Award.

Women's Lacrosse

The Women's Lacrosse Team, led for the last time by Coach Gaile Rockey, reached the end of a challenging season that included games against MAC powerhouses Drew, F & M, and Ursinus; games in 30 degree weather; sleet, snow and rain. Even in these adverse conditions, team members gave strong performances.

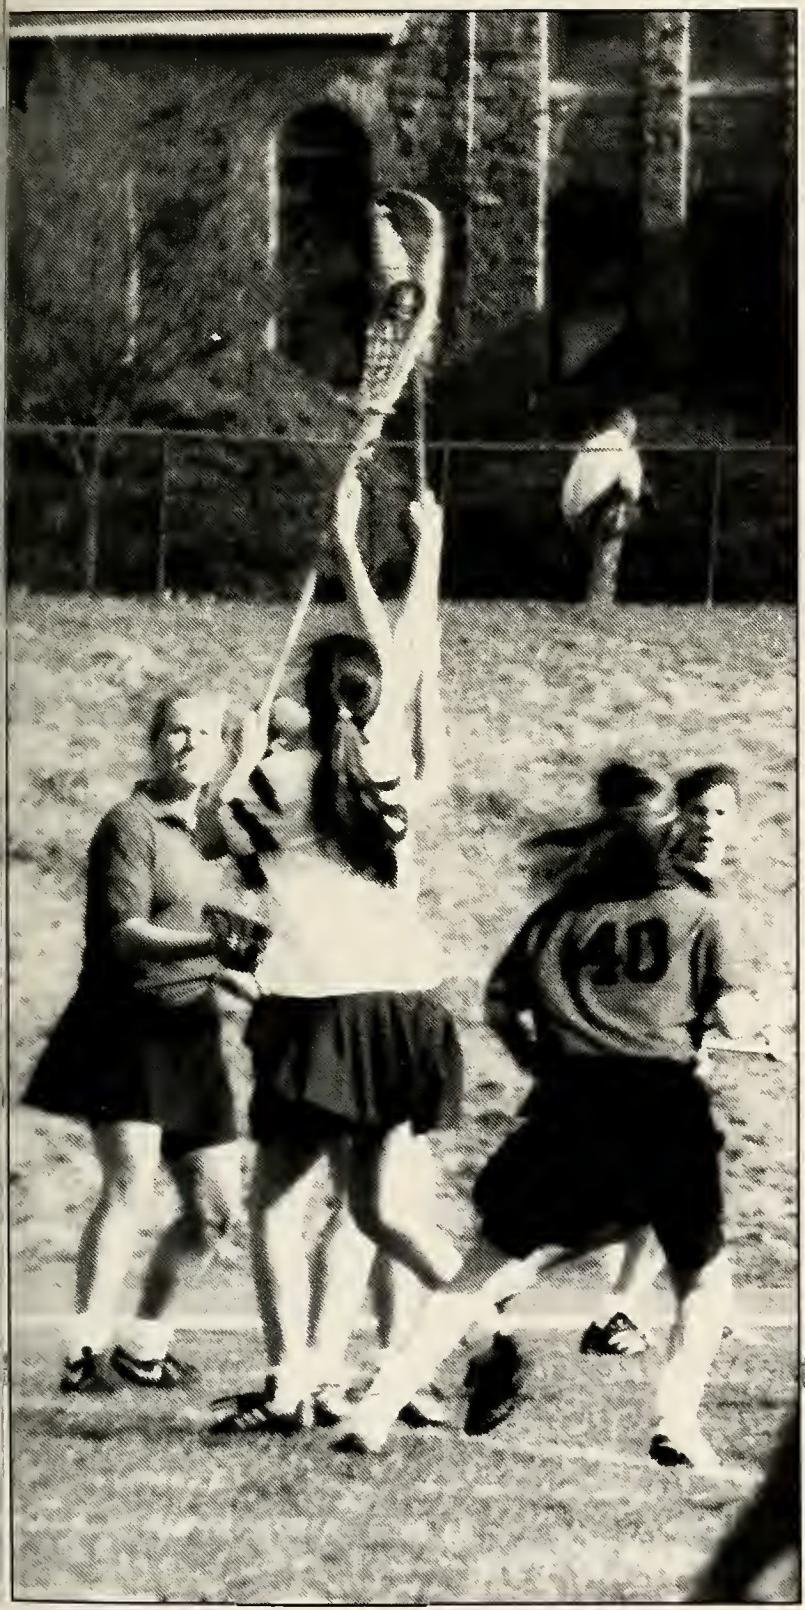

Senior Martha Wofford was recognized for her years of service to the team by receiving a four-year award as well as the FOSA award. Carol Staley, with approximately 160 saves third season also turned out an impressive season. Their loss, as well as the loss of other seniors Phyllis Burt, Sam Edwards and Carolyn Stillwell will be missed next year.

However, the team is full of new, young talent, including first-years Nicole Jassie, Heather Malony, Bess O'Neil, Asahi Pompey and Mary-Catherine Arbour. Veteran players Sunshine Osterman and Marla McDaniel will lead the team into next year's season with a lot of hope and promise.

Coach Rockey summed the season by saying "The team has had some great games against some very tough competitors and many players have improved over the course of the season."

Men's Tennis

The men's tennis team, coached by Michael Mullens, played a tough division I schedule this year, but came out of it with some decisive victories this season. The team was led by the Bermuda Triangle, the Bandit's top three singles players, Lee Tucker '92, Mark Levine '92 and Hunter Dunn '92.

Tucker was named the champion at the Rolex National Tournament for Division III schools during the season and along with Levine and Dunn, were recognized for their four-year dedication to the team.

Phil Rosentrach '93 (or, more lovingly, Ho) also managed to make a comeback this season after a stress fracture that kept him out for most of the season. He performed well in many of the late season events. Coach Mullen reported that "the Bandits are playing good ball because they have been playing a serious Division I schedule."

While a large portion of the average Swarthmore student's time is spent studying, often the most rewarding and fulfilling experiences that he or she may have take place outside the classroom. Swarthmore is a place where students make ideas into action as they convert theory to reality by getting involved or starting new . . .

This great tradition of involvement has created an active and vibrant student life. Campus organizations play a large role as they host or sponsor events such as the Intercultural Evening or Salsa Dinner. The Administration does more than its fair share by organizing Parents Weekend and the inauguration of new president Al Bloom.

The 1991-92 year saw many great activities ranging from the English Scottish Ball to the humor of Verti Go-Go to the sounds of 16 Feet. In all, (and as always), it was a year to remember . . .

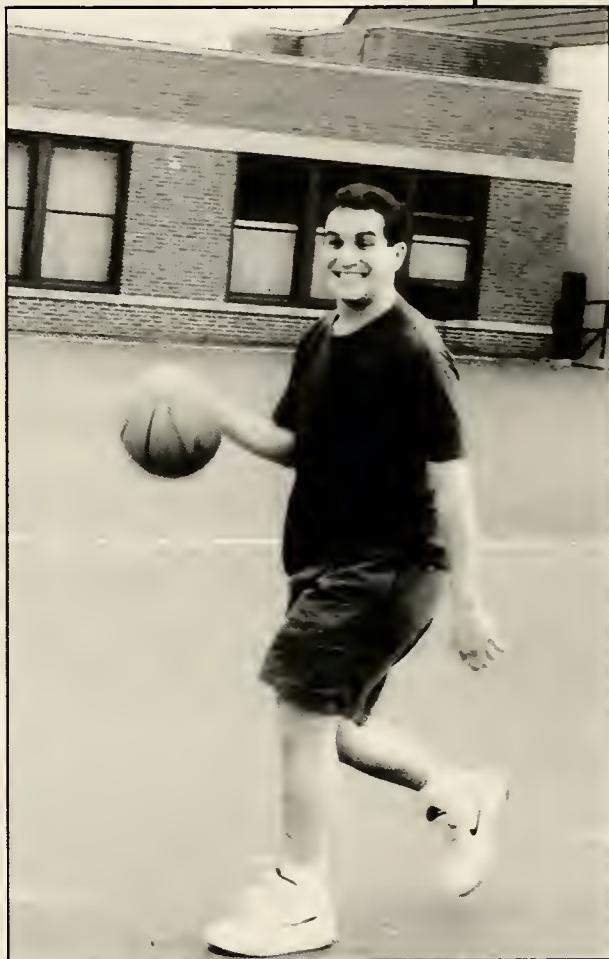

Student Life

Swarthmore students work hard. Ask anyone. They read books, write papers, decipher equations, draw bar graphs, paint pictures, dissect minks, translate French poetry, learn badminton, and nap in McCabe, often simultaneously. But when the reading, writing, deciphering, drawing, painting, dissecting, and translating are complete, they look for a way to relax. And so they play violins, rap with their rap group, direct musicals, plan all campus parties, build rafts, and organize new campus programs in their spare time. This is what happens when a student body is made up of more than one thousand over-achievers. This is student life ...

A NEW MANDATE FOR AMERICAN EDUCATION

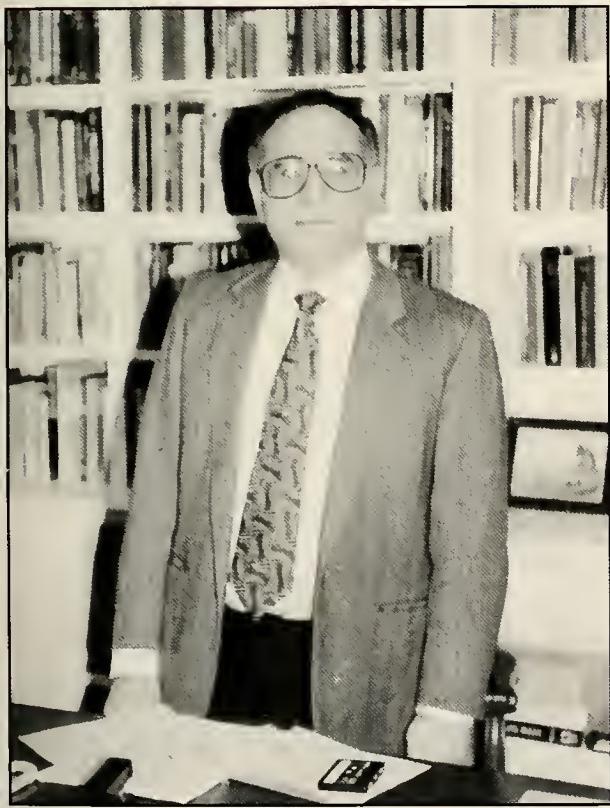

On May 2, 1992, Swarthmore welcomed new President Al Bloom in a grand multicultural inaugural ceremony. The selection of Bloom is central to the College's commitment to diversity as Bloom is an ardent supporter of multiculturalism. In his address entitled "A New Mandate For American Education," President Bloom stated "It is because basic continuities exist across cultures that we can enter other cultural worlds. For students to recognize these continuities is for them to recognize that the potential for profound understanding exists across cultural worlds." In leading Swarthmore into the future, Bloom has dedicated himself to the ideal that Swarthmore students can make a difference is guided in the proper ways: "If our students do not graduate with the confidence to translate the knowledge, the insight, and the analytic power of the academic experience into effective strategies for social change, how can we expect them to be prepared for, or commit to, a continuing responsibility to be agents of such change?"

Blood Drive

The Cold War saw a brief comeback for three days in March 1992 with Chess, the first musical to be performed in the new Lang Performing Arts Center. The story of the competition, ro-gaining indeed.

Mimi Bowling '93 and Carolyn McConnell '93 choreographed the dynamic show, while Dylan Steinberg '93 conducted the live orchestra. The chorus danced in black mance, and intrigue centering around an international chess tournament was the directional debut of Youngmoo Kim '93 and was, by most accounts, a successful be-and white between the champions and between the superpowers unfolded, move by move. With this stylish and talented production, all involved were victors.

Forget exams, books, courses, housing . . . food is the real question mark for any student going to college. Will I be able to eat the massproduced cuisine of the dreaded dining hall or will I just starve?

Despite the necessity of serving typically mediocre dining hall food, Sharples Dining Hall did provide a pleasant haven for socializing with friends in one of the more picturesque college dining environments anywhere.

The voices of friends and the sight of the beautiful Swarthmore campus through large bay windows was almost enough to make one forget he or she was eating the same taco salad . . . again. Almost.

Senior Week

Pretty exciting stuff, isn't it?

Black Alumni Weekend

On March 21, 1992, the portrait of former Dean of Swarthmore College, Janet Dickerson, became the first painting of a person of color to permanently adorn the walls of Parrish Hall. The painting was bought as the Senior Class Gift of the Class of 1991, a gift inspired by the passionate and bitter dialogue which took place upon Parrish Walls during the 1990-91 school year.

In this dialogue, the absence of minority representation in the honorary portraits displayed in Parrish Hall was protested, and a homemade portrait of Malcolm X was hung to help balance the perceived absence. The Malcolm X portrait was later slashed. The gift of the Class of '91 was an attempt to both heal the wounds opened by the debate through tangibly promoting the ideal of multi-culturalism at Swarthmore and a gesture to honor Dean Dickerson for her great service and leadership within the college community between the years of 1976 and 1991.

The painting, created by Washington D.C. artist Simi Knox, portrays the smiling African-American woman in a flowered blue dress, looking forward in warm and inviting friendship. Dickerson, lauded at the dedication for her success in continued development of student services during her tenure at Swarthmore, has become a sign of expanding tolerance and understanding at the institution through her portrait, now hung where the destroyed Malcolm X painting was displayed in 1991. Her smiling presence seems to offer both forgiveness and a hope for future of understanding and harmony.

Daffodils and fruit trees blooming on April 3, 1992 creating a flowery welcome for arriving families as the Spring 1992 Parents' Weekend began. Swarthmore provided an active weekend so visiting parents could see what \$20,000 a year is paying for and get a taste of college life. The first taste was spicy; the new Intercultural Center, celebrating its grand opening, provided a Salsa Dinner in $\frac{1}{2}$ Sharples that started the weekend with a bang.

As well as the ICC's opening events, the weekend provided opportunities for political action, entertainment, and wading in a chilly Crum Creek. Amnesty International observed its "Rights of Spring" activities which included lectures on human rights and a 5K "Freedom Run." On the lighter side, the Swarthmore College Dancers performed student choreographed pieces Friday evening, a Capella groups Grapevine and 16 Feet sang and the Swarthmore College Orchestra made sweet music in Lang Concert Hall. As well, the comedy group Verti Go-Go promised to be "funnier than your parents", and, of course, they were. Finally, Parents' Weekend wouldn't be Parents' Weekend without the Crum Regatta.

Although parents probably departed convinced that there was no place like home, the Spring weekend of fun no doubt reminded them of the joys of higher education.

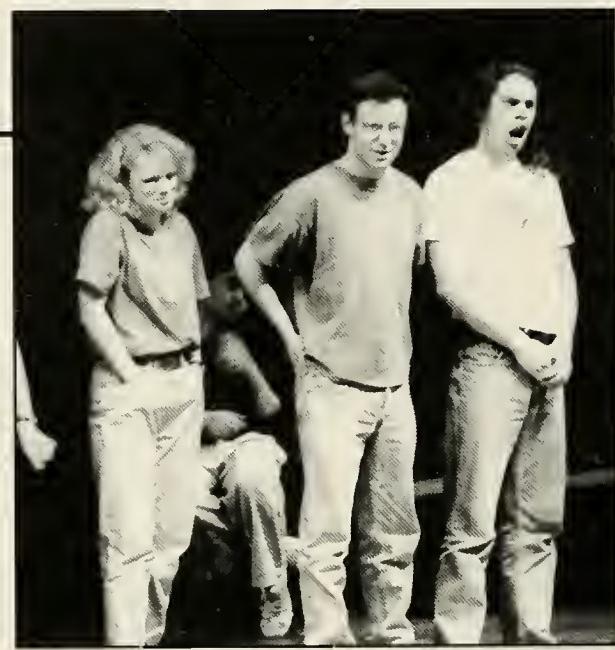

After the Phoenix revealed that one eager boater was considering a craft of shell-lacked marshmallows, who could stay away from the 1992 Crum Regatta? A crowd of around 400 and a record number of thirteen participating "boats" with crew felt the "gota regatta" urge and appeared on the chilly but sunny Saturday morning in early April for the event.

Seniors Ben Thomas, Dave Underwood, and Rob Stevens sailed home to victory — recapturing the title that had eluded them since their freshman year.

The 1992 Regatta, organized through the Alumni Office, was an illustration of the classic Swarthmorean philosophy; traditions are best when they mean you can get wet and muddy. And if you can carry them in the nude, better yet.

Verti Go-Go

ICC Dedication

When the Class of '92 entered Swarthmore, Ronald Reagan was still president, the USSR was still the USSR, the Cosby Show was king, and greed was good. My goodness, how times have changed. The Class of '92 was witness to the unsuccessful run for the presidency of Michael S. Dukakis, the collapse of the Soviet Union—now called the Commonwealth of Independent States, the rise to stardom of Bart Simpson, and the recession that has left us all applying to graduate school for the 1993 year.

During all of this, the Class of '92 was being educated by the best in order to become the best so that we may exact change in the same magnitude as those that we have seen over the past four years. Only time will tell if this goal is accomplished but it will be more than interesting to watch . . .

When the Class of '92 first set foot on the Swarthmore College campus, they were confused and perhaps overwhelmed by the new world that sat before them. While the Class of '92 will leave just as confused as they were when they first came, they will leave with enduring friendships and memories of days past. These pages are dedicated to those friendships outside of and above and beyond the classroom. It is these friendships that have shaped each individual Swarthmore experience for the Class of '92. While the Class of '92 will leave Swarthmore, it goes without saying that Swarthmore will never leave the Class of '92 ...

The Swarthmore College Handbook states the comprehensive fees for the 1991-92 academic year to weigh in at a hefty $22,160. However, this price tag does not include pizza, beer, or even books for the year! The average student is said to consume at least one student special pizza, one and a half six packs of beer, and to buy two books per month.

Given this, it is no wonder that Swarthmore has many friends in the Ville or at Springfield Mall. To repay the generosity of the Swarthmore student body, the business community has kindly filled these following pages with messages of encouragement and praise for the Class of '92 while hoping that if you become hungry or thirsty, you know where to call . . .

As well, friends and family of the Class of '92 have taken this opportunity to send messages of hope for the future and pride in past accomplishments to the graduates of this year's class.

OFFICIAL YEARBOOK PHOTOGRAPHER

CARL WOLF STUDIO, INC.

SHARON HILL, PENNSYLVANIA

(215) 522-1338

A Letter From The Editor

Dear Reader,

The 1992 Halcyon was a massive undertaking. With an operating budget hovering around $50,000, it is the largest publication on campus. With that in mind, the staff of the Halcyon set out to make this a truly memorable and ageless yearbook.

To accomplish that goal, I decided on a number of important innovations and/or revisions in this book. First and foremost was the addition of the Senior portraits. Despite the controversy that surrounded this, a full 320 of 356 seniors were pictured. This is far and away the highest percentage of any graduating class pictured in the Halcyon. Second was the strict adherence to column layout. This change was pioneered by Heidi Walls, the Assistant Editor, who brought professionalism to the Halcyon which had been sorely missing. Finally, Carl Wolf Studios of Sharon Hill was brought in on an outside contract to provide the film, take portrait shots, and process film. The quality of their work coupled with the outstanding effort of the Halcyon photographers — most notably Photography Editor Hattie Fletcher and Laura Dattner — is evident as you turn through these pages. In sum, these changes have made the 1992 Halcyon a timeless reminder of our years at Swarthmore — anything less would have been considered a failure in the eyes of the editors and staff.

I would like to take this chance to thank a number of people whose invaluable help made this book a success — both financially and professionally. First, my assistant editor, Heidi Walls, whose dedication was unparalleled. I wish her the best of luck as she will edit the 1993 Halcyon. Second, Mike Gilroy — the publisher of the book — whose assistance and understanding made my job a little bit easier. Third, Joe Durinzi Sr. of Carl Wolf who was willing to bend over backwards to get film or photographers to us on time. Finally, the staff of the Halcyon who devoted their time to this endeavour without any hope of pay — Hattie Fletcher (Photography Editor), Laura Dattner (Layout, photography), Shannon Allen (Sports Editor), Antonio Goodwin and Kimberly Mealy (Student Life editors), Emily Martin (Copy Editor), Dave Sobel (copy), Emily Mindel (photography), Adam Weinfeld and Eric McCrath (Business And Ad Managers) and Susan Smythe (Faculty Adviser).

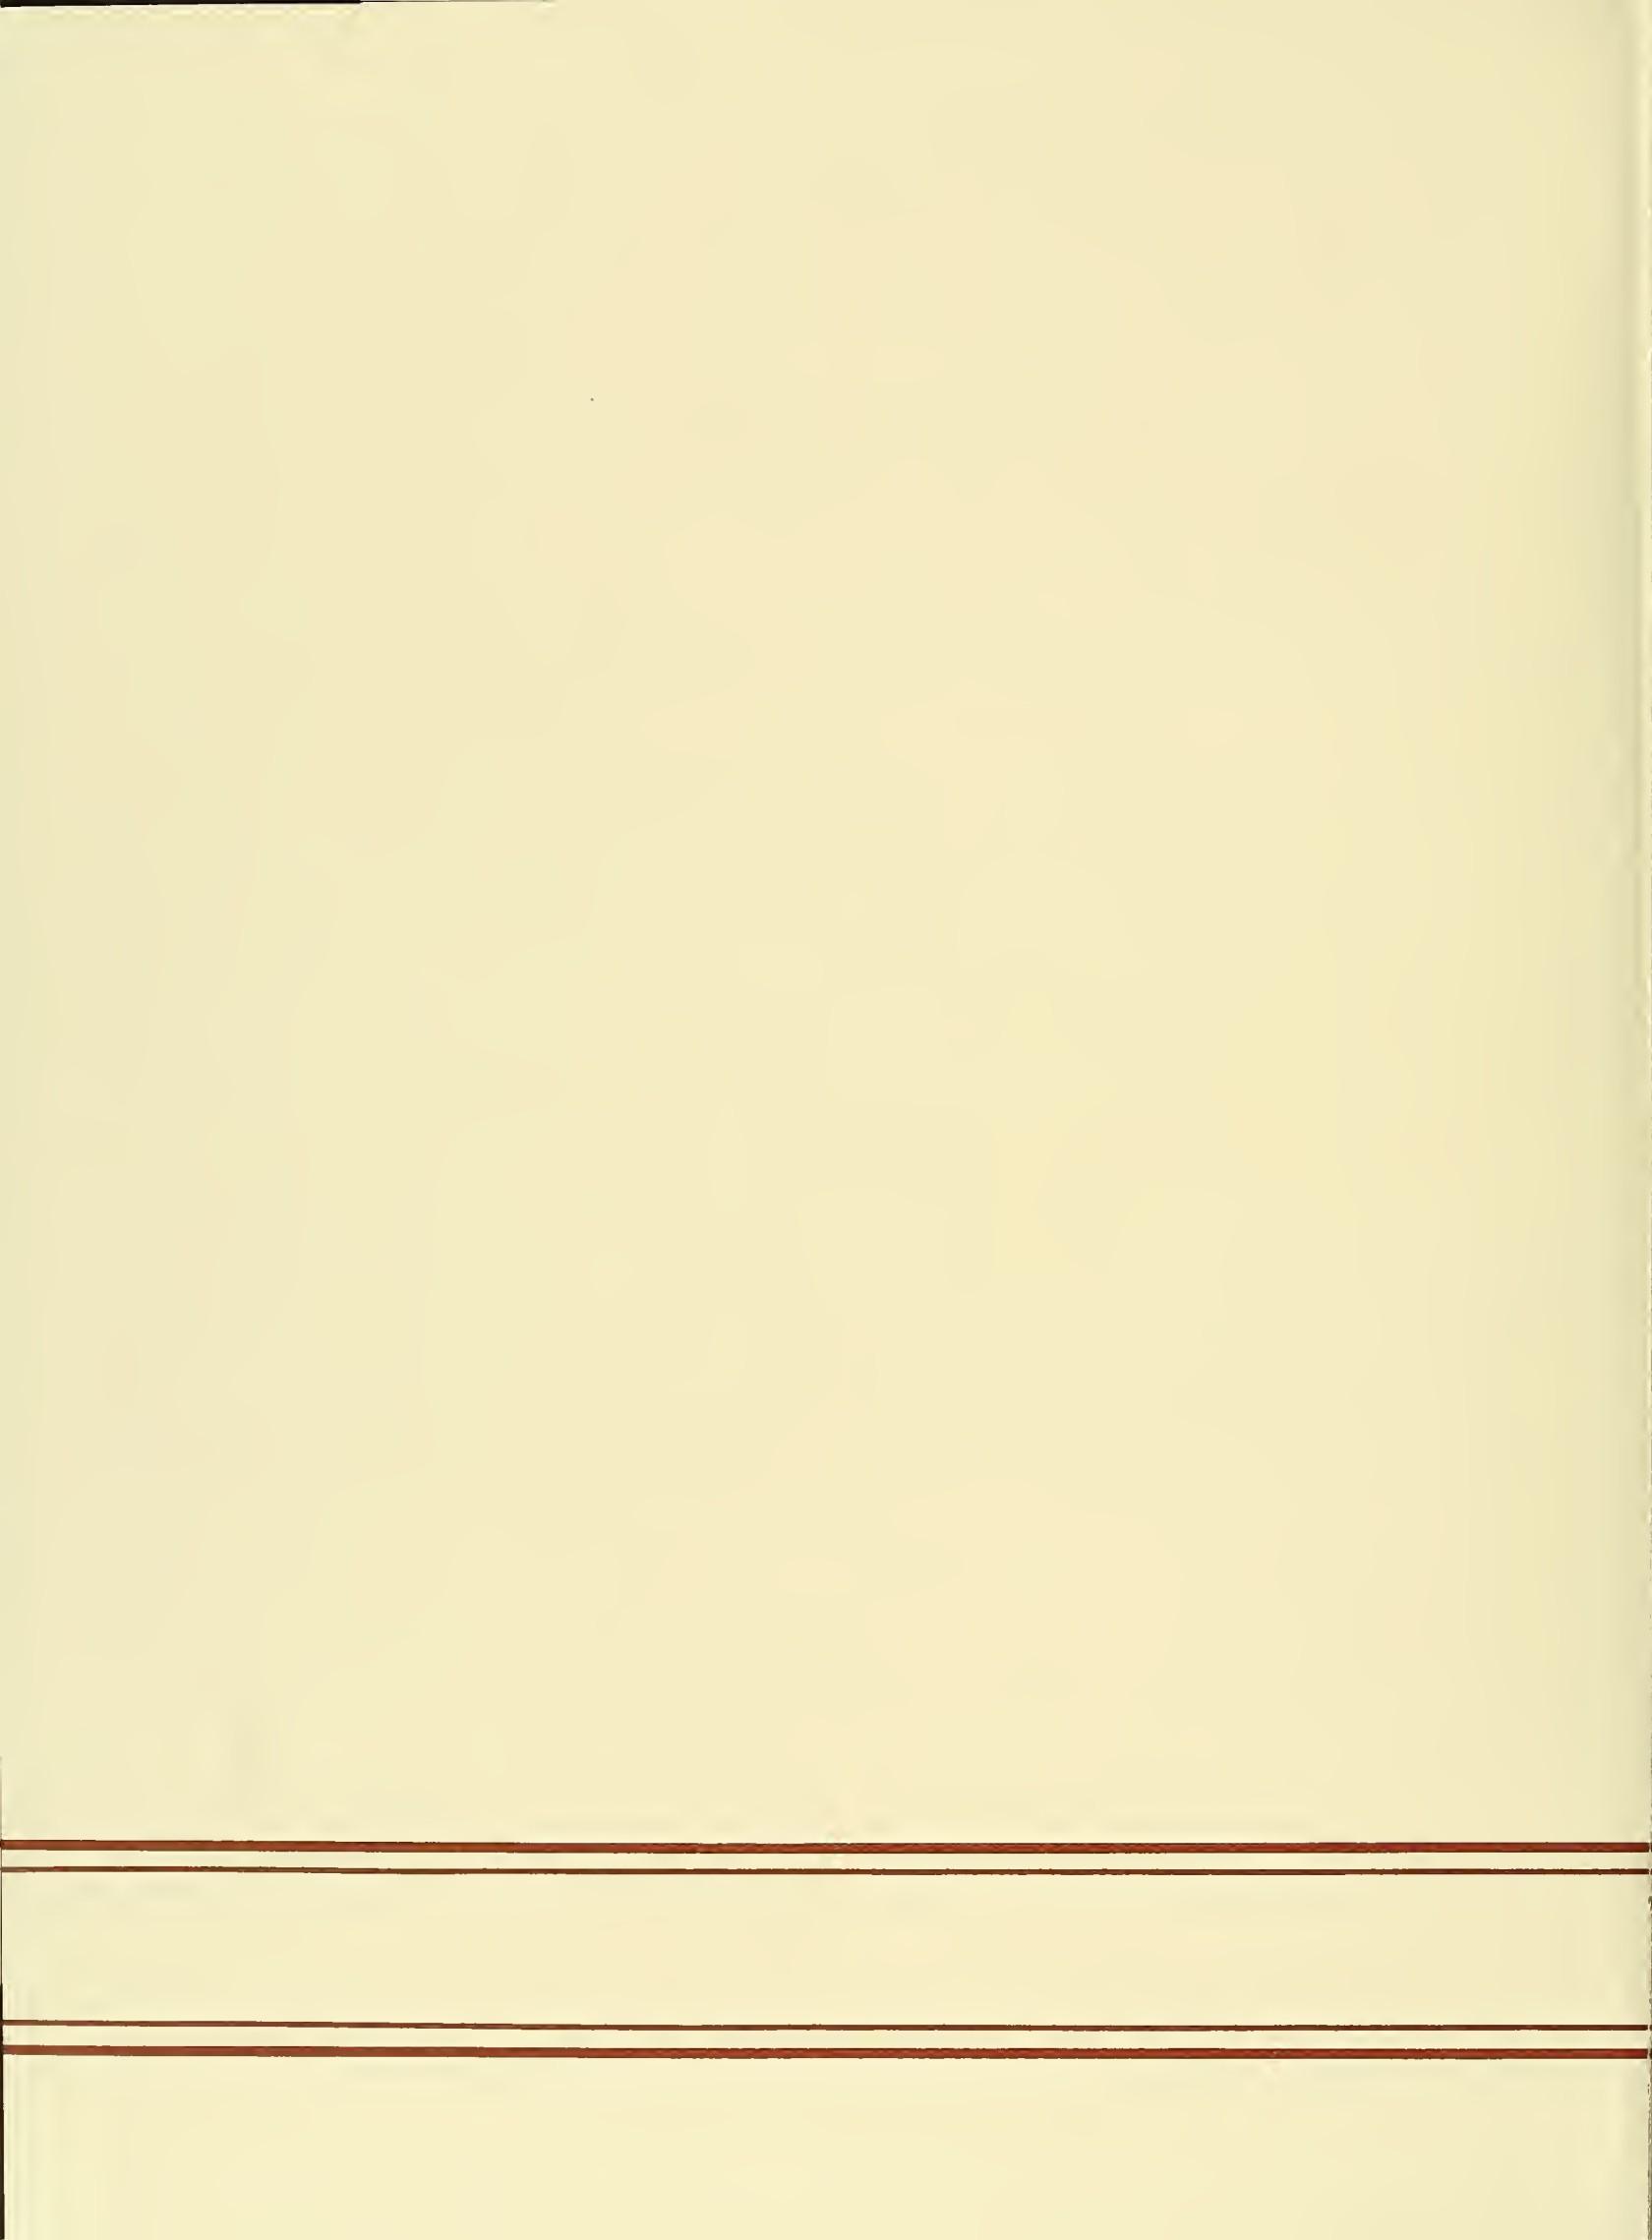

Warmest Regards,

Michael A. Costonis
